

THE GLASS COMPANY // OPERATIONS DIRECTORATE

OPERATION STILL WATERS

The Proposal of R. to Sofia M. — classified until she says yes

MISSION

At 18:40, on the pier where the subject once said “I could stay here forever,” operative R. will ask the only question that matters. Mission success is defined by one word, and it is not “no.”

PHASES

- PHASE I — DECOY DINNER. Reservation under a false pretext (“celebrating the new job”). Subject must suspect nothing.
- PHASE II — THE WALK. Route passes the pier “by coincidence.” Sunset window: 18:32–18:51.
- PHASE III — THE QUESTION. Ring in left jacket pocket. Kneel on the boards, not the gravel.
- PHASE IV — EXTRACTION. Champagne cached with the photographer hidden at the boathouse.

PERSONNEL

Photographer: embedded, call sign LONGLENS. Both families: on standby at the restaurant, sworn to radio silence.

CONTINGENCIES

Rain: gazebo fallback, 40m north. Early arrival: LONGLENS stalls via “wrong lens” protocol. In all scenarios: the question gets asked.
